THE LATEST NEWS OF IMPORTANCE FROM EVERYWHERE.

REBELS ACTIVE AT MANILA.

MANILA, Feb. 19, 3:00 P. M.—The California volunteers have abandoned the Guadalupe church, which has since been set on fire, after which the rebels hold the country in the vicinity of Guadalupe, Pasig and Paterno, despite the efforts of the gunboats to dislodge them. The heat is intense and increasing perceptibly every day. In view of the fact that the enemy is entrenching on the American right flank, preparations were made last night to give them a warm reception in case of an attack. The Buffalo's search-light discovered the rebels' increased activity and at ten o'clock last night signalled the flagship for permission to fire upon them, which being granted the Buffalo bombarded them for twenty minutes. The bombardment resulted with little effect, although the rebels apparently retired.

PAVONIA'S PASSENGERS ASHORE.

PONTA DEL GADA, AZORES, Feb. 19.—Early this morning the passengers of the steamer Pavonia, which arrived at St. Michaels, when requested to leave the vessel unanimously declined to do so. The terrible gale continuing they have now all been taken ashore. The Pavonia is still anchored in a dangerous place outside the harbor, and efforts to get her machinery in working condition have thus far proved unsuccessful.

THE BICYCLE RACE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—At the end of the 139th hour of the six days' bicycle race, the standing of the four leading contestants was as follows:

Miller	2176
Aaronsen	2114
Frederick	1071
Gimm	1038

Miller's previous record at this hour was 1990 miles.

PARIS IN A TUMULT.

PARIS, Feb. 19.—Police measures for the maintenance of order have been taken on an extensive scale. There were demonstrations tonight in front of the office of one of the leading anarchist papers. There were also collisions between rival factions, those for and against the newly-elected president. The partisans of the president were worsted in the conflict, and after moving off were again attacked and defeated. Similar conflicts occurred in different parts of the city. There is a great deal of excitement.

A BUSY WEEK FOR THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—This week will be a busy one in the senate, as only twelve days are left of the session. The army bill is yet to receive the attention of the senate. There is no probability that the bill will not be taken up, as democrats as well as republicans concede the necessity of some legislation in view of increasing the army to cover the present emergency.

TRANSPORT SHERIDAN SAILS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—The transport ship Sheridan sailed today for Manila, by way of the Suez canal. She had 1835 enlisted men and officers, with their wives and families, on board. The Sheridan is considered the best appointed of the three army transports. The troops consist of the entire Twelfth infantry and four companies of the Seventeenth.

HAD A HARD TIME.

BREWSBURG, GA., Feb. 19.—The Malory line steamer City of Antonio arrived here today from Boston, three days overdue. The steamer had a terrific time in the blizzard of Sunday and Monday, she having eight inches of water in her cabin at one time.

EXCEEDED CONTRACT SPEED.

PORTLAND, OREGON, Feb. 19.—The torpedo boat Fox, built in this city, had her trial trip yesterday on the Columbia river. She made an average of 23.13 knots for two hours. The contract called for a speed of 22.85.

MRS. ZACHARIAH CHANDLER DEAD.

DENNOTT, Feb. 19.—Mrs. Zachariah Chandler, widow of the famous Michigan statesman, died today. She was the mother of the wife of Senator Hale of Maine.

TRAIN WRECKED.

SPOKANE, WASH., Feb. 19.—The great Northeast bound flyer was wrecked this morning near Wilson's Creek. The engineer, express messenger and firemen were injured. No passengers were hurt.

OFF FOR SANTIAGO.

PORT TAMPA, FLA., Feb. 19.—The transport Minnesota, with the Sixth infantry battalion, sailed from Port Tampa for Santiago tonight.

RUSSIANS AND CHINESE FIGHT.

PEKIN, CHINA, Feb. 19.—A serious conflict has taken place between the Russian and Chinese, the latter losing 300 killed.

EYES LIKE TELESCOPES.

The South African Bushmen are Gifted With Marvelous Sight. It has often been remarked that civilized people tend to become short sighted. This is because in towns and cities their vision is mostly confined to short distances. Savage races, on the other hand, are generally gifted with remarkably keen sight, and few tribes are more noteworthy in this respect than the African bushmen, whose eyes are veritable telescopes. This power is no doubt a wise provision of nature, for the bushmen are a small race, and if they were not able to see danger a long way off they would soon be exterminated by their various enemies, whether savages of other tribes or wild beasts.

A traveler in South Africa relates that while walking one day in company with a friendly bushman the savage suddenly stopped, and gazing across the plain cried out that there was a lion ahead. The traveler gazed long and earnestly in the direction indicated by the bushman, but could see nothing. "Nonsense," he said, "there's nothing there." And he went forward again, with the bushman following at his heels, trembling and unwilling and still asserting that he could see a lion.

Presently the native came to a dead stop and refused to budge another inch, for this time, he declared, he could see a lioness with a number of cubs, a fact which made the animal more dangerous than ever. But the European, who could see no lioness, much less its cubs, pushed ahead, declaring the bushman was dreaming. After walking a quarter of a mile, however, he could dimly make out an object moving across the horizon. Still doubting that it could be the object which the bushman said he had seen, he continued to advance, and at last was able to distinguish a lioness, with her cubs around her, walking leisurely toward the woods.—Chambers.

Its Natural Effect.

"How many of these sheep got out of here?" asked the angry farmer. "I don't know," replied the hired man, rubbing his eyes. "After I'd watched five or six of 'em jump over the fence I seemed to lose the count. That always puts me to sleep."—Chicago Tribune.

PAVONIA IS SAFE.

She Has Arrived at St. Michaels Disabled and Under Tow. Boston, Feb. 19.—The Cunard steamship company here, received a dispatch from the Azores, Saturday morning, confirming the news cabled from London to the Associated Press, that the steamer Pavonia, of the Cunard line, had arrived at the Azores, disabled, and under tow. The company's advices give no other particulars.

Glorious News.

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Washita, I. T. He writes: "Four bottles of Electric Bitters has cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face and the best doctors could give no help but her cure is complete and her health is excellent." This shows what thousands have proved,—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, Globe Grocery Co., Druggists, Guaranteed.

ARRESTED FOR MURDER.

Bradford Knights is charged with killing his sister-in-law.

Gardner, Me., Feb. 19.—Sheriff McMcFadden and Deputy Sheriff Newell arrested Bradford Knights at Richmond early Saturday morning on a charge of murdering his sister-in-law, Miss Annie Small in this city, Friday evening. The officers went to Richmond on an early morning train to search for Knights. He was found at his home and promptly taken into custody. Arrangements were made to have the prisoner brought to Gardner at once.

Miss Small, who was 22 years old, was shot and instantly killed as she was walking on School street here last night. It is alleged that Knights was very jealous of the girl, who had repelled his attentions. Knights is 44 years old.

Knights, the alleged murderer, who is under arrest, will neither affirm nor deny his guilt. He admits that he was to Gardner and sought an interview with Miss Small Friday evening, but she declined utterly to have any conversation with him.

After his arrest Knights, in conversation with a reporter, stated that he had known the woman for several years, and that an intimacy beyond the bounds even of the law had existed between them for a long time. He claimed, however, that he had not seen her, up to yesterday since Christmas, when he visited her at Andover, N. H. They were somewhat estranged at that time, but after his visit Miss Small wrote him several letters. Knights claims to have letters from the girl showing that she was infatuated with him. He says he often pleaded with her to cease troubling him. These statements are denied by the dead girl's family, and so far as is known, Miss Small was of excellent character. She was a daughter of the late Gilbert Small, a well-known and respected farmer of Bowdoinham.

His family state that Knights was desperate in his efforts to gain the favor of the girl, and they sent her away to free her from his company.

Knights admits that he had no letters from Miss Small after she went to New Hampshire last until he went there and found her. There was some trouble after that, and Knights, it is believed, went to Gardner Friday to fix up matters. There seems to be no doubt in the minds of those who knew Knights that he was enamored of the girl, and that her refusal to talk to him turned his head.

Knights was at one time an inmate of the Maine insane asylum, but has not been considered mentally unsound since he came out. He has a sister who has been insane for a number of years.

As he was talking with a reporter Knights wept while referring to his relations with the girl and recalled her death. He appeared all right mentally Saturday and ate a breakfast at the police station with apparent relish.

Sheriff McFadden of Kennebec county, who made the arrest, took Knights to Augusta, where he was placed in jail. Coroner Hildreth summoned and swore in the following gentlemen as a jury to view the remains of the late Annie Small at the undertaking establishment of Wadsworth Brothers: J. M. Larabee, L. M. Sanborn, C. H. Marr, Frank W. Dill, C. J. Lawrence and W. J. Landers.

They found the bullet that killed was the one that entered the fleshy part of the right arm into the side and through the right lung. Another bullet went through the back and lodged behind the breast bone. The third bullet, which entered the side, the physicians have not been able to find. Sheriff Hildreth has adjourned the hearing until Wednesday next at 4 o'clock. The prisoner was taken to jail until Monday, when he will be arraigned in this city. When the train stopped up at the depot there was a large crowd present anxious to get a glimpse of the murdered, and the officers did not take the prisoner from the train, fearing violence at the hands of the crowd. The streets have been crowded all day and excitement runs high. As the train left the depot the prisoner bowed to the crowd, which called forth menacing threats.

PAVONIA IS SAFE.

She Has Arrived at St. Michaels Disabled and Under Tow.

Boston, Feb. 19.—The Cunard steamship company here, received a dispatch from the Azores, Saturday morning, confirming the news cabled from London to the Associated Press, that the steamer Pavonia, of the Cunard line, had arrived at the Azores, disabled, and under tow. The company's advices give no other particulars.

The good news caused great rejoicing among the Cunard officials, although none of them would admit that they had doubted that the steamer would turn up safely. They were of the opinion that they would first hear from her off the Irish coast.

It is explained that Captain Atkins will be perfectly home in his present experience, as three years ago, while in command of the Caaolonia, he was forced to put into St. Michaels, being disabled. His passengers were landed and proceeded to New York by another steamer, while the Caaolonia was towed back to Liverpool.

If the Pavonia is injured so as to need extensive repairs, it is expected that this plan will be repeated. The Pavonia now is more than 2000 miles from Boston. She was due here 12 days ago. She carried 47 passengers of all classes.

OLD-FASHIONED WOMEN.

Have a very natural prejudice against anything that offends their fine sense of delicacy. And for that reason numbers of such women have suffered and in some cases died from the derangement or displacement of the delicate organs of sex. Any suffering to them was better than the shame of questions and examinations.

To every suffering woman who values modesty Dr. Pierce's method of treatment is a boon beyond price. His remarkable remedy for all female disorders and diseases, "Favorite Prescription," cures ninety eight out of every hundred cases, no matter how obstinate or complicated the disease may be. Any woman who needs more help may write to the Doctor for his free counsel and advice. Such letters come from thousands and are treated with absolute privacy.

"I write these few lines hoping that some other suffering woman will try Dr. Pierce's medicines, as I did," writes Mrs. O. S. Adams, of Fargo, Cass Co., N. Dak. "I had female weakness very badly, so I had to be in bed part of the time. I was tired and sick all the time, could not do my household work, had fainting spells, nervous headache, backache and pain in my left side when I would lie down; I had pains and aches all over. I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and had not taken two bottles when I was able to be around again and do my work with no pain. I have taken five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, two of his 'Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla' and several vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets.' I am feeling better than I have for a great many years. I think Dr. Pierce's medicines are the greatest in the world."

When the bowels are obstinate, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They don't gripe.

A PITIFUL ROMANCE OUT OF SAN FRANCISCO'S CHINATOWN.

The Morose Que Nan Is Far Away From His Wife Who Was Kidnapped and Sold Into Slavery in This Free Land of Opportunity and Marriage.

"So this is a free country," said an English resident of San Francisco, sententiously, to an American visitor who had been dilating upon the beauties of the American idea. "But let me tell you the history of one woman in free America. You may doubt it, but I can substantiate it."

"A few years ago there was a young woman in Canton named, we will say, Que Nan. She was especially attractive, even from the American standpoint. One day she was approached by a Chinese woman, who said she had a rich husband for her, and, to pass by non-essentials, the girl was finally entrusted to the woman's care, who volunteered to take her to the rich husband. When the destination was reached the prospective bridegroom was not to be found, but he had left word for his bride-elect to follow him. This was sufficient to place the girl aboard an American-bound vessel. The woman was a professional kidnapper, and after receiving her pay she handed over the victim to an agent, who was delegated to carry the girl, with others, to America."

"As the ship left port and finally passed Japan the girl became suspicious and threatened to create a great outcry, but she was silenced by the agent, who convinced her that it was all right and that her husband was in San Francisco. He then told her exactly what to say when she passed the Custom House officers to make them think that she was a native-born citizen of America. She was informed that if the Americans thought she was not they would sell her as a slave and condemn her to a life of horror, not to speak of the evils which might carry her off. The girl was so terrified that she obeyed implicitly, and when examined by the officers was readily passed and permitted to go ashore. Here Que Nan still expected to find her husband. Instead, she was taken to a room, when she was visited by various men and women, who, she was told, were her husband's friends. The apartment was the famous Queen's Room, or the public slave mart, which was broken up by the police during the past few years. One of the visitors finally bid in the girl for $1,500. All this, mind you," said the speaker, knocking the ashes from his cigar, "in free America."

"Her new owner announced himself as her husband, but he soon threw her into the hands of an unscrupulous gang of criminals, and the girl finally discovered that she had been kidnapped in China, sold to a man who had imported her to lead the life of a slave, put up at public auction, so to speak, and knocked down to the highest bidder, or sold for $1,500 in gold. This is a low price," added the Englishman. "I can quote you instances where the market price has touched the three-thousand-dollar mark."

"The average girl, at this stage of so cunningly devised a game would have given up. But this one was made of sterner stuff. She made a vigorous outcry, and, though thrown into a cell and imprisoned, she finally succeeded in making her escape, and one day rushed into the street and into the arms of an American policeman, screaming and crying."

"Highlanders who belonged to the society which deals in slave women rushed after her and endeavored to carry her off, but the policeman carried the girl to a haven of rest, in one of the missions, where she was well treated and found a good home."

"The mission people desire to see all such women married, and they finally saw Que Nan happily married, to a Chinaman who was a very popular steward on an American man-of-war. The wedding was celebrated with much circumstance, and I venture to say that there was not an officer in the navy yard who did not take a personal interest in the couple."

"Being a sailor, the husband, whom we will call Ah Gong, was obliged to go on a cruise, and the ship sailed for San Diego. Que Nan being left in San Francisco. For some time all went well. Que Nan had a good home, her husband had a large salary, and the match was supposed to be the happiest possible."

"One day a man went to Que Nan and said that he was her husband's brother, and that Ah Gong had sent some money to him for his wife, and that if she would go with him she could obtain it. She went, received the money, and on her way home was arrested for stealing the amount, another Chinaman making the charge. She was taken to the police station, the money found on her having private marks, which the Chinaman identified."

"Now, continued the Englishman, 'if the woman had consented to go with the Chinaman the charges would have been withdrawn, but she refused. Finally the mission people interfered, and with the testimony of American officers her release was procured, it being evident that she was the victim of a conspiracy. During the excitement the supposed brother-in-law, who returned out was a man who had really bought her in the first place, appeared, affecting much concern, and succeeded in inducing her to go with him. The mission authorities urged her to return with them and remain until her husband came back, but she was so confident that the man was her brother-in-law that she insisted on accepting his invitation and going to his

MORMON CONVERTS.

CHURCH OF THE LATTER DAY SAINTS AGAIN BECOMING A POWER.

Ten Thousand Recruits Enrolled in the United States Last Year—Many Others From Abroad—Mormonism Still Encouraged—A Great Political Power.

Mormonism is spreading its mission-aries, who have been at work steadily for more than half a century, have increased in numbers remarkably within the past two years, until now there are 140 preachers of the faith in the East and upward of 500 regularly assigned propagandists in the South. Last year 10,000 converts were baptized in the United States, to say nothing of the many who came in companies each month from Europe on their way to the Land of Promise."

Already the church is absolute in Utah. Tammany is not better organized for political work, nor is it one whit more a political machine than the organization over which President Woodruff presides. Tammany rules over a city. The Mormon Church controls a State, and moreover, it has no opposing organization to hinder its movements or to compromise with. It is the only machine there is, and its influence is growing fast."

People in the East are wont to think of Mormonism as confined to the district around Salt Lake City, in Utah. The truth is that to-day Mormonism embraces the whole of Utah, Southern Idaho, Wyoming, Eastern Nebraska, Western Colorado, Northern Arkansas, Western Iowa, Eastern California and portions of New Mexico, an area of half a million square miles."

Converts are multiplying, for the missionaries, both at home and abroad, are earnest, zealous workers, who dare all things in the service of their church. This intensity of zeal is the direct outcome of the persecution the Saints have experienced. Persecution strengthens the persecuted."

Many people in the East suppose that polygamy is no longer a part of Mormonism. That is not so. Polygamous children are given the preference over monogamous. Plural marriages are encouraged. Mormons to-day are taking to themselves second and third wives."

The manifesto of President Woodruff was only a blind. It did not mean anything to those who knew the facts more than that the Mormon Church had decided to conform outwardly to the law of the land, while at the same time continuing to visit their extra wives, who ostensibly lived apart each in her own house with her own children."

What difference did it make whether the wives were in one house or in a half dozen houses? The elders could visit each one in turn just as he chose."

The Church marries the Saints as it chooses. If it finds a wife isn't happy with the man with who she is living it "seals" her to another man, and so on until it locates her happily. The marriage ceremony is not public. Only the elect are present. The ceremony is a reproduction of the supposed courtship and marriage of Adam and Eve carried out as literally as possible."

Land is at the bottom of all Mormon success. The Church controls vast tracts, and besides it acts as distributing agent for Government lands. The missionaries go abroad among the poorest peasantry of Great Britain, Norway, Sweden, Holland, Germany and Switzerland and say to them, "We are come to you to give you eternal salvation and a nice farm if you will believe our doctrine, which really is no harder to believe than any other doctrine. The farm will be your own, too. Think of that. Let your mind dwell upon it. Will you ever have a farm of your own to do what you liked with if you stay in this country? No, of course not; but if you are baptized and go to the Land of Promise in America you shall have a large farm, and we will lend you money to stock it and to buy implements with."

The missionaries keep their promises. They send their peasants to Utah, where they are instructed how to file a claim on land. They take alfalfa, and, of course, have to borrow from the Church before they can begin work. The Church fits them out and takes a mortgage on the farm as security. The interest on the mortgage and the tithe, one-tenth of the annual product of all the labor of the farmer, go to the Church."

Every Saint has to pay this tithe. By the time the tithe and the interest have been paid the newcomer has literally little for himself. In truth, he literally is owned, body as well as soul, by the Mormon Church. He must do it, bidding, for without its aid he is helpless. As the majority of Mormons are farmers, the power of the Church can be understood."

PRESIDENT WOODRUFF.

embraces the whole of Utah, Southern Idaho, Wyoming, Eastern Nebraska, Western Colorado, Northern Arkansas, Western Iowa, Eastern California and portions of New Mexico, an area of half a million square miles."

Converts are multiplying, for the missionaries, both at home and abroad, are earnest, zealous workers, who dare all things in the service of their church. This intensity of zeal is the direct outcome of the persecution the Saints have experienced. Persecution strengthens the persecuted."

Many people in the East suppose that polygamy is no longer a part of Mormonism. That is not so. Polygamous children are given the preference over monogamous. Plural marriages are encouraged. Mormons to-day are taking to themselves second and third wives."

The manifesto of President Woodruff was only a blind. It did not mean anything to those who knew the facts more than that the Mormon Church had decided to conform outwardly to the law of the land, while at the same time continuing to visit their extra wives, who ostensibly lived apart each in her own house with her own children."

What difference did it make whether the wives were in one house or in a half dozen houses? The elders could visit each one in turn just as he chose."

The Church marries the Saints as it chooses. If it finds a wife isn't happy with the man with who she is living it "seals" her to another man, and so on until it locates her happily. The marriage ceremony is not public. Only the elect are present. The ceremony is a reproduction of the supposed courtship and marriage of Adam and Eve carried out as literally as possible."

Land is at the bottom of all Mormon success. The Church controls vast tracts, and besides it acts as distributing agent for Government lands. The missionaries go abroad among the poorest peasantry of Great Britain, Norway, Sweden, Holland, Germany and Switzerland and say to them, "We are come to you to give you eternal salvation and a nice farm if you will believe our doctrine, which really is no harder to believe than any other doctrine. The farm will be your own, too. Think of that. Let your mind dwell upon it. Will you ever have a farm of your own to do what you liked with if you stay in this country? No, of course not; but if you are baptized and go to the Land of Promise in America you shall have a large farm, and we will lend you money to stock it and to buy implements with."

The missionaries keep their promises. They send their peasants to Utah, where they are instructed how to file a claim on land. They take alfalfa, and, of course, have to borrow from the Church before they can begin work. The Church fits them out and takes a mortgage on the farm as security. The interest on the mortgage and the tithe, one-tenth of the annual product of all the labor of the farmer, go to the Church."

Every Saint has to pay this tithe. By the time the tithe and the interest have been paid the newcomer has literally little for himself. In truth, he literally is owned, body as well as soul, by the Mormon Church. He must do it, bidding, for without its aid he is helpless. As the majority of Mormons are farmers, the power of the Church can be understood."

TWO "LIBERTY" NOTES.

Plain Reasons Not "Set" by a Wife Why She Found Marriage a Failure.

Sometimes a man necessary for the student to dig deep into the inner part of things to find why marriage is a failure. There is no reason or indeed excuse for inquiring why the couple here mentioned found their life a delusion. This notice in the Liberty (N. Y.) Register tells the whole story:

"Whereas, my wife, Helen, has left my bed and board without just cause or provocation, I forbid all persons from trusting her on my account as I shall pay no debts of her contracting."

J. T. Tremper.

"And, whereas, that the said bed above mentioned belongs to me and is still in my possession; and, whereas, the said board was nothing to brag about, anyway; and, whereas, such as it was it has left my husband and he it, and not I him; and, whereas, the only other board now running at large and unchallenged was a half-paid-for table, which has disappeared with the alleged provider and non-owner of the bed aforesaid; and, whereas, the aforesaid trust, as above said, was never operative; therefore, he it resolved, that my husband never had any bed and but a very meagre amount of trust and not more than half a board to protect; and be it resolved, furthermore, that he be allowed to hustle for new board, a place to lay his head and such trust as God and man may see fit to endure; and be it further and lastly resolved, that undertakers are not barred on the aforesaid and lastly named trust."

Helen Tremper."

Wolf Children.

The adoption of human infants by wild and carnivorous quadrupeds has obtained more or less credence among the vulgar from the earliest ages, and while such to-day are for the most part pooh-poohed as idle tales, the skeptics have little idea of the evidence that has been offered in substantiation thereof."

Half a century ago the iconoclast who would have dared question that Romulus and Remus owed their nurturing to a she-wolf would have been laughed to scorn by most lovers of the classics. Twenty-five years later the animal was substituted, on the part of tutors, by a woman named Lupa—a most inglorious conclusion, derived solely from imagination. To-day the tendency to ignore all sentiment causes such ideas to receive scant courtesy, and, when sentiment is introduced as evidence, is met by the undeniable statement that the same miracle is accorded with preserving the lives of many gods and heroes of antiquity. Consequently, if a single case of a child being fostered and reared by animals can be substantiated beyond question, the result will be to rehabilitate as history much literature that, solely on this account, has been relegated to the realm of fiction."

A Forerunner of the Paper Age.

Camille Flammarion, in his weird piece of fiction called "Omega," in which he describes the end of the world, says in one place, "There were no forests; they had long since been converted into paper." The product every day finds new uses. Paper wheels, bricks, floors, carpets, buckets, dishes, tilings, etc., are common. An entire house has just been constructed of paper at Hamburg. Its walls are composed of a double layer of paper, stretched upon frames and impregnated with a fire and waterproof solution. A thin wooden partition affords further protection against the inclemency of the weather. The roofs and walls are fastened together by means of bolts and hinges, so that the entire structure may be rapidly taken to pieces and put up again. The dining room itself measures 75x15 feet, and is capable of accommodating 150 persons. There are twelve windows and four skylights, and the heating is effected by a couple of isolated stoves."

He Never Knew Who He Was.

A man by the name of Harbridge died at Glen Cove, Me., a few days ago. He didn't know how old he was, where he was born, or who his parents were. His earliest recollection was of living with a tribe of Rocky Mountain Indians, who probably stole him. They treated him kindly, and brought him up to their savage ways of life with their own children. They never told him anything about his parents. When a young man he left the tribe, which made no opposition. He readily acquired the customs of civilization, and apparently his early savage training left little impression on his mind and none on his habits in his later years. He turned his hand to many things to make a living, and finally came East and took up fishing as a means of livelihood."

The Modern Jerusalem.

A young woman visiting abroad writes of her gayeties: "Two picnics, three teas, a luncheon and an 'at home' is the record for last week," she says in her letter. "The conundrum is, where am I visiting? In Paris, London, Vienna or St. Petersburg? Not at all. I am spending a fortnight in Jerusalem. With a trolley line out to the pyramids and 5 o'clock tea at Jerusalem, the world may be said to have advanced, indeed."

To Protect Miners.

Imprisoned miners can be supplied with food and air by a newly patented conduit system, consisting of a series of pipes, to be laid through the mine shafts, with branch pipes running around each section to be used if the main pipe should be crushed by a cave-in. Flexible conveyors being run through the pipes to carry the food."

CARISFORD.

"I never saw such a lucky girl in my life as you, Kitty Price," said Mrs. Hughes Mortimer. "Only to think, you have been in New York only a month and Mr. Carisford has asked you to marry him!"

Mrs. Hughes Mortimer lived in a stately brownstone house on a fashionable square, and Kitty Price, her sister's child from the country, sat in the deep bay-window.

Kitty was very pretty. There were many in society more brilliant and beautiful than she, but in spite of all this, Mr. Carisford, the rich banker, had fallen in love with Kitty Price.

Mrs. Hughes Mortimer was delighted with this social success.

"Kitty, you're a darling," said she. "I haven't been so delighted since Mr. Hughes Mortimer gave me my solitary diamonds. How angry Angelina Elford will be!—and those Brooks girls, and—"

"Stop, stop, Aunt Olivia!" Kitty colored deeply. "I told you that Mr. Carisford had asked me to marry him—"

"Well!" The matron lifted her handsome light blue eyes inquiringly to Kitty's tell-tale face.

"But I didn't tell you that I refused him," added the culprit.

"Refused Mr. Carisford? Refused the best match in town?" cried out Mrs. Hughes Mortimer.

"You wouldn't have me accept him if I didn't love him?"

"Love!" scornfully repeated Mrs. Hughes Mortimer. "My dear, your mamma has brought you up with most visionary views of life. 'Love' is an extremely improper expression. And, believe me, you will soon learn to esteem any worthy gentleman who—"

"That's just hoping for, aunty," sanely interrupted Kitty. "If you'd only consent to hear my story out you'd save yourself a great deal of trouble. The reason I refused Mr. Carisford is that I have accepted his nephew, Frank Ely!"

"Kitty!"

"Is there anything so remarkable in my preferring one of my own age to a man old enough to be my father?"

"Mr. Carisford is only forty."

"And that's just twenty years too much to suit me. Aunt Olivia, I love Frank, and I would not marry Mr. Carisford if there wasn't another man in all the world. So there!"

"In that case," said Mrs. Hughes Mortimer, grimly, "I shall send you back to your mother to-morrow. The idea of your marrying a slip of a bank clerk, without a penny, when you have the alternative of becoming Cleveland Carisford's wife."

"Don't be vexed, aunty," pleaded Kitty, putting up her red mouth for a kiss; "I can't be false to my own ideal of womanhood. I can't give my hand to Mr. Carisford when my heart is Frank Ely's already."

Great was the astonishment of Kitty's parents on learning that their daughter had refused a match so desirable in every respect.

"The girl must be crazy," said Papa Price, who had seven young daughters to dispose of.

"Mad! Infatuated!" echoed Mama Price. "But we must write to her. She shall not come home here to put the same sort of nonsense in her sisters' heads!"

So while Aunt Olivia was writing to her sister that Kitty must go home at once, Mrs. Price was writing counter orders that Kitty must on no account be allowed to return until she had "learned to behave herself."

It is but justice to the lady to admit that she did not mean all that her words implied.

Kitty, however, took it all in earnest. So, that very evening, she went around to a little ivy-draped church in the neighborhood and married Frank Ely.

"My own dearest!" he murmured. "God grant that I may prove faithful to your trust!"

When they returned arm-in-arm from the church, a crowd in Broadway obstructed their passage.

"Oh, Frank!" cried Kitty, turning pale, "something has happened!"

"Pair o' runaway horses! Old cove pitched out and killed!" said one of the street Arabs.

"Stay here by this drug store an instant, Kitty," said Frank, "until I go and see what the trouble is."

But he had selected an unfortunate vantage point for the pale and trembling little bride. It was Cleveland Carisford, convulsed in the last agony of death.

Frank Ely joined his young wife with a troubled face.

"I would have given much to spare you of the sight, dearest," he said.

"Your uncle, Frank?" she gasped.

"My uncle. I always dreaded some evil result from his unadvised purchase of that spirited team; but it is too late, now, for idle regrets."

So Cleveland Carisford's name was wiped off the list of the living.

"Singular state of affairs this," said old Mr. Lisoswell, the lawyer. "Carisford has just burned one will and was going to execute another this very Wednesday. And in spite of his deadly quarrel with Frank Ely's father and mother, the young fellow becomes, through Carisford's neglect, the sole heir to all his property. I don't see how a man can be so careless."

So Frank Ely was rich, and innocent Kitty Price had married a great fortune after all. Aunt Hughes Mortimer gave her a great reception, and her father and mother wrote moiling letters from the old homestead, hoping, in honeyed phrases, that "dear Kitty could make it convenient to receive the whole family very shortly on a visit."

"It's strange, isn't it, how circumstances alter cases?" said Kitty, laughing.

A HANDSOME ESTABLISHMENT
For the past four weeks the restaurant of Charles W. Ham on High street, has been in the hands of the painters and decorators who have worked a scene of transformation in that popular resort. The work was done under the supervision of Joseph E. Hoxie and is a great card for that individual. The ceiling is a wonderful piece of work of the decorator's art and together with the new furnishings, mirrors etc., makes the establishment one of the handsomest north of Boston. Mr. Ham will continue to keep the cuisine of his establishment as formerly, which is gratifying to his large circle of friends.

GAVE A BIRTHDAY PARTY.
A number of friends of Clifton Spinney were handsomely entertained at his home on Gardner street on Saturday evening, the occasion being his twentieth birthday. Some twenty-five of his young friends were present and thoroughly enjoyed the evening. A fine repast was served and to everyone was given a slice of the birthday cake which adorned the center of the table. It was midnight when the party broke up and the company dispersed to their homes wishing their young host many happy returns of the day.

NEW HAMPSHIRE'S DAUGHTERS MEET.
Mrs. John E. Follett presided at the regular meeting of New Hampshire's Daughters held at the Vendome on Saturday afternoon, the 18th inst. The business meeting was called to order at 2:30, and was followed by a delightful musical programme in charge of Mrs. Martha Dana Shepard. The artists included Mrs. Lucy C. Pillsbury soprano, Miss Frances Wilson, Miss Lucia A. Tucker, Miss Florence Nickerson and Miss Elvira Leveroni.

ENTERED GOVERNMENT HOSPITAL CORPS
Charles A. Bateholder, a member of Company A, Third Regiment, N. H. N. G., at Chicamauga last summer, and of late made nurse at the Cottage hospital, has entered the government hospital service and ordered to report at Fort Constitution after a week's furlough. Mr. Bateholder has many friends in this city especially among the members of Company A, who wish him luck in his new position.

How it Hurts
Rheumatism, with its sharp twinges, aches and pains. Do you know the cause? Acid in the blood has accumulated in your joints. The cure is found in Hood's Sarsaparilla which neutralizes this acid. Thousands write that they have been completely cured of rheumatism by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

WITH THE POLICE
The police slate this morning contained the names of six lodgers and two drunks. Olaf Nordstrom, a Swedish sailor, was one of the drunks and was picked up on Russell street on Sunday. When asked where he obtained his liquor he replied that he was a stranger in the city therefore could not tell. He knew that he had entered half dozen places where he had obtained liquor.

WATCH STOLEN.
Taken From Vest That Hung on the Wall.
Libby Bennett, an employee of the lasting room at the shoe factory, reported at the police station this noon time that a gold watch, chain and charm had been stolen from his vest which hung on the wall in the lasting room at the shoe factory this forenoon. At the police station it was thought that the watch had been taken as a joke and that the owner would find it in his pocket again before night.

A GRAND TIME AT THE PORTSMOUTH YACHT CLUB.
The members of the Portsmouth Yacht club royally entertained their friends at the club house on Mechanic's street on Saturday evening. Chief Drown served an old-fashioned bake bean supper which the club boys and their friends did ample justice to. After supper, music, games and dancing served to make the time pass only too quickly. Mr. Robert Phinney entertained the company with numerous selections from his graphophone and Mr. Fred Schmeier sang "Just Behind the Times." Mr. Schrieter has a fine baritone voice and was heartily applauded.

POPULAR OFFICER DETACHED.
Chief Engineer W. G. Baehler, U. S. N., who has been at the head of the steam engineering department at the navy yard for the past three years, has been detached. Mr. Baehler retires on March 15th and on Saturday he received his orders detaching him on March 1st, and ordering him home. At the same time Chief Engineer W. H. Harris, U. S. N., at present on duty at the Back Iron Works, was ordered to relieve Chief Engineer Baehler on the date he is detached. Chief Engineer W. H. Naman, U. S. N., of the Walahah, relieves Mr. Harris at Bath. In the change of officers Portsmouth will lose one of the most faithful of her interests who has been on duty here.

WOMAN'S EXCHANGE.
